

LET'S SUPPORT JATAM!

Campaign and Emergency Reponse Period 2012 - 2013

Dear JATAMers,

There were at least two cases stomping our conscience at the end of 2011. Namely, the 3 victims killed by a bullet and violence, police brutality act in Bima of West Nusa Tenggara Province. A boy and girl died in the mining pit coalin Sambutan sub district, Samarinda East Kalimantan.

JATAM recorded that until 2011, there were 62 people died, 376 people injured, 173 people jailed for trying to defend and demand their rights. And hundreds thousands of people lost their lands and thier territory seized when the entrance of mining industry. In 2012, mining sector is still the "hotspot" arena of violence and human rights abuse. The police officers (Mobile Brigade) and the military have always been the main tool of government to face and answer the demands of citizens around the mining.

The mining Advocacy Network (JATAM) is a network of non governmental organizations (NGOs) and community organizations that have concern for human rights, gender, environment, indigenous and social justice issues in the mining and oil and gas industries. JATAM working with affected communities in many regions in Indonesia that are destroyed by mining, oil and gas activities. The position and demand of JATAM born from the concern for the destruction of the environment and socio-economic of the local people due to mining, oil and gas industries.

JATAM is actively focused on mining and oil and gas issues since 1999. JATAM growing as a network of individuals, organizations and movements that serve those who fight for the safety and next generation.

We believe that in saving the life from the destruction of the mining industry should involve more massive elements of society and mondial. We therefore invite all Indonesian people to support and participate in the campaign and emergency response.

The support for campaign and emergency response is JATAM's effort to raise public participation to support the movement which serves those who fight for the safety and next generation. This agenda is also to build self-reliance through the information media, products and public education campaigns. Where there is in all its activities fully supported by public donations.
